Features Key:

- Four new religions:
  - Congregationalism – a return to the idea of Christianity being a calling for the whole of society, with congregations as hubs for saints. But Congregationalists are also concerned with those who have strayed from the church and the proper doctrine – they can call out to God to send demon locusts to punish those who have strayed. They also act as Inquisitors in the case of a serious heresy.
  - Antinomianism – Antinomians reject the idea of a binding, centralised authority. Rather, each individual is responsible for their own actions and God will judge them through their own conscience or as the result of the local justice system.
  - Stoicism – a philosophy of moderation and stoicism, which is traced back through ancient Greece to Zeno and Epicurus.
  - Pietism – a more conservative, Old Testament variant of the Protestant movement. Pietists love God's law and they teach others how to live life in accordance with God's will, acting as protectors of the faithful. Embracing the Old Testament text, the Pietists follow strict laws and order in their lives.
- Expanded Religion Management:
  - Free rein for new denominations:
    - Yes/No adds to the already existing Catholicism, Protestantism, Orthodoxy, Islam, Hinduism, Buddhism, Wicca, Paganism, Neo-Platonism, Philosophical & Pagan religions
    - Further adjustment to the existing denominations:
      - Same changes apply to Judaism, Wicca, Paganism
  - Further setting of Heaven:
    - Perfectionist Heavens
    - There are four possible perfectionist Heavens:
      - Perfectionist Heaven
      - Empathetic Heaven
      - Apathetic Heaven
      - Amoral Heaven

What's new:

- 12 months later There are three meetings of The Council of 5 In the Sword Coast and in Silvermere, the last Tarchaine remains alive. There are five kings ruling over the subor nation of the Empire of Wak-Wak. The Golden Abbey is founded, after the work of Brother Fredrick and the advice of Bishop Jolas. In the north of the Americas, that is, on the coast of Florida, the Golden Abbey is attacked by heathens who worship the elements. In the lands north of Sigil, a war of conquest rages on between the God-king and the Demon-king. Unwelcome visitors arrive at the Golden Abbey with the news of the Devil's Teeth. A new civ is born. by Lelio Dragonetti (aka Anthony) A year later... Galen Zellein had been in the palace of the demon-king for 3 days, having first become the demon-king's counsel. When the demon-king Gragoxsloth was deposed, Zellein took his place. In Zellein's 3rd day as the Demon-king's second councilor, the Demon-king Hybrebas was slain in his bed, after being betrayed by Zellein. Zellein decided to run as Demon-king. His first act as Demon-king was to grant free pardon to all in the court of the king. by Prof The report from the Earthly Bureau said, "This month. Something certain happened. As you know, the Earthly Bureau has noted the repeated ghost sightings near the Mage Quarter. At first there were only the occasional sightings, but lately there have been more, and more often. The thing is, the people in the Mage Quarter keep getting more and more angry. All of a sudden, it seems that the Mage Quarter had gotten so crowded that there are more people who want to take credit for the ghostly sightings than actually want to solve the problems that has surfaced. There are more and more fights and more and more breakouts from the city's jails." The Earthly Bureau continued, "Before we knew what had happened, the guards from the Mage Quarter had stormed a riot, and arrested 2 men and 1 woman. These people were charged with large-scale vandalism - breaking into the Palace of Azeer Zanth

Free Expansion - Crusader Kings II: Conclave

How To Crack Expansion - Crusader Kings II: Conclave:

- Download the installer for expansion from the DriveHack website. I recommend to download the download from Drivehack. The site contains a lot more useful stuff for every game version that you might want.
- Open the downloaded installation file.
- Do not execute the installer.
- After a while the installer will ask you whether or not you want to activate the free (non-commercial) expansion. Click on "Yes".
- When the installation is done you will have to add the expansion as a new culture you can select for use in the game's single player. You have to do this from the game menu and select Create New Empire. Go to the new culture and there select Conclave from the list of new cultures.
- Accept the license and re-open the game. Start a new game and you will find the expansion installed. It will be listed as "Conclave expansion". You can only play this game expansion in a single player game.

How To Crack & Play the Game Expansion - Crusader Kings II: Conclave:

- Install the game with the expansion. Go to the game configuration file inside the installation folder. There you need to add the path to the expansion and the game files to the list of available data-files. After saving the changes you must re-start the game which is available as a running application in the main menu.
- Load the game and the expansion will be ready for gameplay. Start a new game and you will have access to the Conclave campaign. You will find it under the new Empire menu (New -> Create New Empire) and you will be able to perform the quests for this new playable game mode.

EXAMPLE: First select the cult name you have created for your new empire - Conclave: Empire or Abjuration Empire. Then select it from the expansion list and click play. A wizard will appear in your empire to explain all the new quests and details of the Conclave campaign.
