Windows Forms and WPF Editors are more popular than ever. So, it can be good idea to make plugins for these editors. But, as I know, it's not so easy. Today, I will tell how to make an editor. This is a WPF Editor. It's a simple WPF editor for UI design. Welcome to my latest video. In this video we will be creating a WPF barcode reader. Barcode readers are a pretty popular use case for WPF or Windows Forms. Most products these days have barcode readers and as a programmer, you will be required to work with barcode readers in most cases. I have spent a lot of time trying to find an easy to follow tutorial for creating a barcode reader in WPF. This is the tutorial that I have finally created and it is very easy to follow. Does your organization have a document management system that's getting a little tired? Are you still using Microsoft Word or the latest version of Adobe Acrobat to create documents and share them with team members? With document management systems, you can centrally store and manage all of your documents. In this video, I'll show you how to install and use DocumentMngmt.NET for Microsoft Office, the most advanced document management solution for .NET applications. Introduction If you've been part of the .NET Framework community for a while you know that every project needs to include a build/version file. Well, you can use the InstallShield with its built in version control and update features for most cases. But what if you want more than the built-in features that are available in InstallShield? Well, you can always build your own. And if you want to, then this is the project for you. In the next video, we will learn how to transfer images to the clipboard. We will use an image with transparent background. We will use a trick to select the entire image. Our Demo Video: Many people are using the built-in Windows Printing system, but it is not perfect for all situations. In many cases you will need something different or you will not find a solution for your problem. Here is a very simple example. You have a folder with many images, but when you print these images, you will not have the source image. You will only have the printed images.
